THE BRAND BEHIND NORDIC ANGLERS' CATCHES.

Since 1955, Norwegian anglers have placed their trust in Remen's traditional and esteemed lures. From light trout fishing in the mountain streams to deep-sea ventures, Remen's line-up of spoons provides the action and appearances to turn the day around. After joining forces with Rapala VMC in 1998, Remen's classic lures were enhanced with cutting-edge technology – paving the way for the brand's future success. The popularity of favorites like the Møreslida, Møreungen, Atomsilda, and Skarpsilda stands as a testament to Remen's hard-earned knowledge of Nordic angling.

MØRESILDA CLASSIC

Møresilda has been anglers' first choice since 1955. It still is. Traditional Norwegian Møresilda from Remen belongs in every spoon box, no matter where it is to be fished. How spoons that have been on the market for around 70 years are still popular, is quite simple. The fish proves every single day, all year round, that it can't resist the swimming action of these spoons and jigs. Adding the high quality that is one of the pillars of Remen's products, you have the answer. That's why you'll find Remen's spoons and jigs for all kinds of fishing in both freshwater and saltwater, from light trout fishing in the mountains, nerve-racking salmon fishing in rivers and heavy deep-sea fishing, in most tackle shops. Møresilda Classic is a real all-rounder spoon that is perfect for everything from light lake fishing to sea fishing for cod, coalfish, pollocks and more, and Møresilda's shape is also perfect for currents. For salmon and sea trout fishing, Møresilda is, no doubt, the first choice for most anglers. Are you just going to fish, or catch fish? The choice is simple.

MØRESILDA NORTHERN LIGHTS

Möreungen Northern Lights is inspired by the play of colors in the Arctic northern lights and the glitter of the starry sky. The glitter on the surface gives very good light reflection. Color range from light to dark means that you will always find a color that suits the fishing conditions where you are. Möreungen has been anglers' first choice freshwater fishing since 2001. It still is. The Möreungen, directly translated, means the child of the Möresilda, and is a spoon that fishes well at low speeds. The small bend in front gives Möreungen the lively, wide swimming action that entices the fish to bite, and this bestseller has many trout on it's conscience. Also recommended for arctic char fishing and fishing for perch and grayling. Are you just going to fish, or catch fish? The choice is simple.

HUGGET

Hugget from Remen is a favorite after trout, arctic char, perch and greyling. Hugget means “the attack from a fish” and we can really sign on to that. It’s a compact spoon with thick material, which makes it long casting and deep swimming. The shell grooves in the surface gives very good light reflection and create noise in the water so that the fish become aware that there is something nearby to eat. Good contrasting colors that we know trigger fish to bite, and color range from light to dark means that you will always find a color that suits the fishing conditions where you are. Be ready for the attack!

ATOMSILDA

Atomsilda imitates a small herring and has for decades been a favorite for fishing after sea trout, cod, pollock, coalfish, mackerel and other predators targeting a herring-imitation. It’s one of Scandinavia’s oldest herring-spoons and has a fresh finish, clearly visible down there, equipped with VMC® PermaSteel hook which is 100% saltwater resistant. The atomic herring is long casting even in headwinds and has a lively swimming action that makes it a great temptation for the predators. Also recommended in inland lakes for trout, arctic char and other freshwater species because of the long casting and fast sinking abilities.

MØREPILKEN

Classic pilk for cod, skrei, catfish, haddock, pollock, coalfish and hallibut. The long coastline on the west side of Norway consists of deep fjords and seas. The North Sea, the Norwegian Sea and the Barents Sea are a part of the Atlantic Ocean and contain big fish. Mørepilken has a compact shape that makes it easy to fish in current or during strong drift. At the same time, the shape is not so compact that it becomes lifeless in the water. It is especially suitable for fishing in different water layers where you have to search for the depth to find the fish. Just as good where the fish need powerful moves to be triggered, as on days when you have to fish the jig gently to trick the monsters down there.

SKARPSILDA PILK

Classic pilk for cod, skrei, catfish, haddock, pollock, coalfish and halibut. The long coastline on the west side of Norway consists of deep fjords and seas. The North Sea, the Norwegian Sea and the Barents Sea are a part of the Atlantic Ocean and contain big fish. Skarpsilda Pilk is a herring-shaped jig with center of gravity and weight balance placed towards the hook end. The jig goes fast towards the bottom and the possibility of the jig hanging up in the line is reduced. Skarpsilda has a molded shell pattern in the body, coated with a reflective holographic foil. There is also a recess filled with phosphorescent varnish that glows in the dark. Skarpsilda has 3D holographic eyes, powerful split rings and Permasteel VMC® hooks with red rubber hose.

MØREUNGEN CLASSIC

Møreungen Classic has been anglers' first choice freshwater fishing since 2001. It still is. The Møreungen, directly translated, means the child of the Möresilda, and is a spoon that fishes well at low speeds. The small bend in front gives Møreungen the lively, wide swimming action that entices the fish to bite, and this bestseller has many trout on it's conscience. Also recommended for arctic char fishing and fishing for perch and grayling. Are you just going to fish, or catch fish? The choice is simple.

MØREUNGEN NORTHERN LIGHTS

Møreungen Northern Lights is inspired by the play of colors in the Arctic northern lights and the glitter of the starry sky. The glitter on the surface gives very good light reflection. Color range from light to dark means that you will always find a color that suits the fishing conditions where you are. Møreungen has been anglers' first choice freshwater fishing since 2001. It still is. The Møreungen, directly translated, means the child of the Möresilda, and is a spoon that fishes well at low speeds. The small bend in front gives Møreungen the lively, wide swimming action that entices the fish to bite, and this bestseller has many trout on it's conscience.
